(a) Thohtah (Prose) :

Discipline

Discipline is the ability to control one's thoughts, emotions and actions to achieve a goal. It is a key element for leading a successful and fulfilling life. Discipline is the act of following a set of rules or regulations. It is essential in all aspects of life, including school, work and personal life. It helps people stay focussed, manage time and make good decisions.

(b) Parom Mutdur :

Precious Stones

Once a cowboy looking for green grass for his cattle reached the thick of a jungle where he found good grass and a pool nearby. While cattle grazed happily, the boy sat down on a small rock by the pool. He suddenly saw a small bag full of stones lying near the rock on which he was sitting. The boy took the bag and picking up the stones from within, he carelessly threw them into the pool one by one till the bag was empty. Suddenly, he heard the loud cry of an elderly man, "Stop! Stop! you threw away all my treasure!"

Moral : Wiser we will be if we are able to realise the folly of our actions when it comes to wasting away our time on frivolous pastimes. (Alfonso Elengikal)
